UN Decade 2021 to 2030 - IKI engagement in the restoration of ecosystems

The new UN Decade on Ecosystem Restoration commences on 5 June as part of World Environment Day 2021. This new decade builds on the United Nations Decade on Biodiversity from 2011 to 2020 and aims to breathe new life into measures designed to restore degraded ecosystems and thereby to ramp up abroad-based public appreciation for healthy ecosystems within societies around the world. Read more on IKI's contribution and commitment worldwide, to the protection and restoration of ecosystems since 2008.
